Eco-Luxury Living at the St. Regis Bahia Beach and the St. Regis Bahia Beach Residences in Puerto Rico

Puerto Rico welcomes a visionary new resort, setting a new standard for service and style in this Caribbean sanctuary. The St. Regis Bahia Beach, Puerto Rico is now taking shape on 483 acres of coconut palms and maritime forest, alongside the recently completed first stage of the St. Regis Residences Bahia Beach. The Residences offer exceptional St. Regis living within an eco-luxury resort, with West Indian plantation-inspired architecture in houses that range from 7,000 to 10,000 square feet. These singular residences, with views of the ocean, golf course, and rain forest, provide a premier front-row seat to the splendors of nature. Two-thirds of the Bahia Beach grounds are set within green areas, making it the first Caribbean resort to receive Gold Audubon International Sanctuary Certification. Relax on the two-mile beach, explore the 70 acres of unspoiled lakes and rivers, and hike in a lush 5,000 acre state preserve, all within steps of your front door. By day, enjoy a round of golf on the Robert Trent Jones Jr. course, set against the stunning backdrop of the El Yunque rainforest, and recently named by the Robb Report in its Best of the Best Selection from around the world. After a round or two, unwind and refresh in the calm of a signature Remède Spa. By night, delight in the epicurean experience of acclaimed chef Jean-Georges' cuisine.
